

From the Principal's Desk

Mahatma Gandhi believed and propagated, 'Be the change you wish to see in the world.' This simple yet powerful principle holds deep meaning for us at our school. For our students, Gandhi's words serve as a call to lead lives rooted in integrity, kindness, and resilience. Recently, during our Diwali celebrations, we highlighted honesty as the 'true ornament of humanity,' a value we consider foundational. Like Gandhi, who believed in the power of individual actions to shape society, we encourage students to practice honesty and respect in their interactions.

Through small acts of kindness and personal accountability, they learn that change begins with them. By embodying these values, our students contribute to a school environment that's both nurturing and inspiring. At Ryan, we remain committed to guiding each learner on their journey to becoming compassionate, responsible leaders who can make a positive impact in the world.

Quote of the month

Honesty

“Honesty is the fastest way to prevent a mistake from turning into a failure”

James Altucher

The quote by James Altucher emphasizes that honesty is a powerful tool for growth and recovery. By acknowledging and addressing mistakes truthfully, we can learn from them, take corrective actions, and prevent them from escalating into irreversible failures. It highlights the value of integrity in turning setbacks into opportunities for improvement.

FROM TEACHER'S DESK

The Importance of Honesty and the Teacher's Role

Honesty is a cornerstone of personal integrity, bringing trust, respect, and peace of mind. It helps students build strong relationships, earn credibility, and develop a reliable character. For example, being truthful about mistakes in academics fosters trust with teachers, while honest teamwork builds camaraderie among peers. Teachers play a pivotal role by modeling honesty, encouraging students to admit errors without fear, and integrating real-life scenarios to reinforce this value. Whether addressing plagiarism or fostering fair play in sports, they guide students to understand the significance of truthfulness. This consistent mentoring helps instill honesty as a lifelong principle, enriching their lives..

“Politeness - A Strong Weapon”!

For a teacher, politeness is a cornerstone of classroom management and effective communication. It fosters a respectful, supportive, and positive learning environment where students feel valued and heard.

Politeness helps teachers:

1. Build trust and rapport with students.
2. Model good behavior and social skills.
3. Encourage open communication and active participation.
4. Create a calm, respectful atmosphere conducive to learning.
5. Address conflicts with empathy and resolve issues amicably.
6. Set clear boundaries while maintaining a kind, approachable demeanor.

Ultimately, politeness helps create a classroom culture that promotes mutual respect and productive learning.

STUDENT'S CORNER

The Hardships of Girls: Striking a Balance

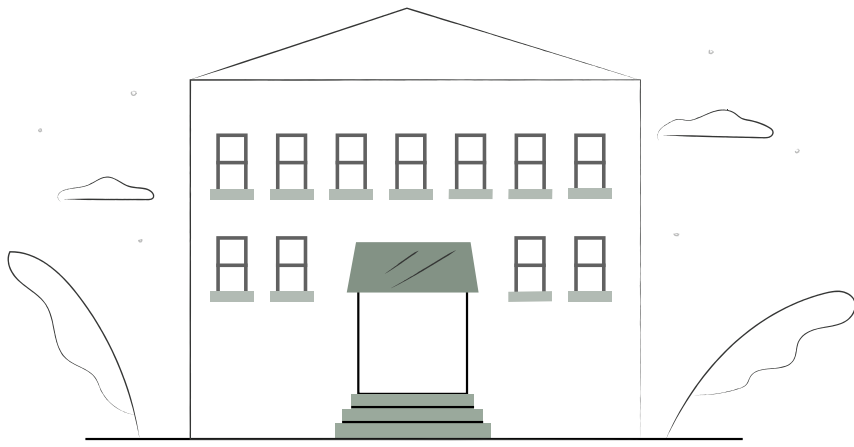

Girls navigate a demanding journey, balancing household chores, family responsibilities, and professional ambitions. Society often expects them to excel as caregivers while thriving in competitive workspaces, adding pressure to their daily lives. Despite these challenges, many exhibit exceptional resilience, multitasking, and determination, breaking barriers and redefining possibilities. By setting benchmarks in various fields, they challenge stereotypes and inspire change. However, achieving true equality requires shared responsibilities within families and society, ensuring every girl can pursue her aspirations without being overburdened. Empowering girls through support and opportunities is essential for building a balanced and progressive future for all..

THE INNOCENT PHASE OF LIFE

In the cradle, life's a dream,
Laughter flows in a gentle stream.
With school comes wonder, joy, and play,
Friends and lessons fill each day.

Teenage brings a mix of highs,
Questions bloom, and spirits rise.
Adulthood knocks, with hopes to chase,
Responsibilities take their place.

Each phase shifts, like seasons unfold,
A child grows, with stories untold.
